Billie's so sorry for a racist slur

SINGER Billie Eilish has apologised after a video surfaced which appeared to show her mouthing a racist slur.

In a statement on her Instagram story, the Grammy-winner said she was "appalled and embarrassed" by the clip.

An edited compilation video was posted to TikTok earlier this month in which she appeared to mouth the anti-Asian slur "ch*nk" which appeared in Tyler The Creator's 2011 song Fish.

Billie (above), 19, was also filmed speaking in different accents.

In her apology, she said she was "13 or 14" in the videos and did not know at the time it was a derogatory term.

She wrote: "I am embarrassed and want to barf I ever mouthed along to that word."

"Regardless of my ignorance and age at the time, nothing excuses the fact is that it was hurtful and I am sorry."

Coffee boost for your liver

DRINKING up to four cups of coffee a day can help reduce the risk of chronic liver disease, a study has found.

Researchers from the Universities of Southampton and Edinburgh found drinking caffeinated and decaffeinated coffee was associated with a reduced risk of developing liver conditions, including liver disease, when compared to not drinking coffee.

The benefit peaked at three to four cups a day, the research suggests.

Scientists found that coffee drinking had a 49 per cent reduced risk of death from liver disease.

KEN FIRES BROADSIDE AT ROYAL YACHT

BORIS Johnson's plan for a successor to the Royal Yacht Britannia is "silly populist nonsense", former chancellor Ken Clarke has said.

Lord Clarke said the £200m national flagship demonstrates that some in No 10 believe there is "free money" despite the stretched state of the national finances.

Cabinet minister Matt Hancock insists the vessel will pay for itself by boosting British trade with countries where it can dock.

Lord Clarke's criticism came as official figures showed that government borrowing stood at £24.3bn in May, down from £43.8bn a year earlier at the height of the pandemic but still the second highest figure for the month on record and £18.9bn more than in 2019.

Conservative peer Lord Clarke told BBC Radio 4's Today programme that the new vessel is a "complete waste of time, silly populist nonsense" and "we have no money" for it.

"It's a symptom, £200m is not going to cause problems, but it shows there are people in No 10 who just think there's free money and who think that waving a Union Jack and sending yachts and aircraft

MONEY WORRY: Clarke says we cannot afford it carriers around the world shows what a great power we are.

"We have no money for that kind of thing."

The vessel will be paid for out of the defence budget.

Screw gets 20 years for pal murder

A FORMER prison officer who murdered his friend and hid her body in a remote Scottish forest has been jailed for life and will serve a minimum of 20 years behind bars.

Ross Willox killed Emma Faulds after arranging to party with her at his home in Monkton, Ayrshire, on Sunday April 28, 2019.

Ms Faulds was reported missing by her family two days after she was last seen.

Her body was found about six weeks later in Glentworth Forest, in Dumfries and Galloway, after a major search involving specialist officers and search dogs.

Willox (above), 42, had denied the charges but was found guilty of murder and attempting to defeat the ends of justice following a trial at the High Court in Glasgow in May.

Sentencing him yesterday Judge Lord Mulholland told him: "You have been convicted of murdering a young woman, Emma Faulds."

"Only you will know what happened in your house that night that led to you killing your friend."

Watchdog call over Morrisons

MPs are preparing to write to competition regulators in a bid to secure assurances if the potential £5.5bn takeover of supermarket Morrisons progresses, according to reports.

It is understood that the Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy Committee intends to contact the Competition and Markets Authority over the private equity move.

Earlier this week, Morrisons confirmed that it has rejected a takeover proposal from New York-based firm Clayton, Dubilier & Rice.

Labour MPs have warned that a private equity takeover of the retailer could threaten the future of thousands of jobs and risk the potential for asset-stripping.

BORIS SUED OVER WRECKED HOLS

Travel firms join forces for legal action against ministers

UK travel firms are looking at taking legal action against the Government over its restrictions on foreign trips.

Mark Tanzer, boss of travel trade organisation ABTA, said he wants to find out what analysis has been done in Whitehall about the impact of travel rules on businesses.

Asked at a conference whether ABTA could sue Boris Johnson's Government, Mr Tanzer replied: "We're looking at whether or not that is an avenue that we can pursue."

"The hurdle for suing the Government is high but we think at least the Government needs to say, did it measure the impact on the travel sector of its own policies, and if it did, did it then decide that the sector nonetheless wasn't worthy of support."

By COLIN HURST
news@sundaysport.co.uk

He issued a "heartfelt plea for political change" in relation to restrictions on travel.

Welfare

Noting that outbound travel is influenced by several Government departments, he said the sector is not content to be "a political orphan".

Mr Tanzer added: "Clear accountability for the welfare of the outbound travel sector needs to be given to a designated minister."

"Our economic contribution is weighty. More money is spent in the UK by British citizens prior to travelling abroad than is spent by international visitors and the job creation or destruction potential is huge.

"I say to Government: put aside misguided prejudices against outbound travel. We are ready to work together, show us that you are."

Andrew Flintham, of Tui, said the firm has become interested in the legal action taken against the Government by Manchester Airports Group, alongside Ryanair, British Airways' parent company IAG and Virgin Atlantic.

He told the Travel Matters summit: "At the time of the last country review, many destinations such as Malta, the Greek islands and the Balearics had much lower rates (of COVID) than the UK."

"We must understand the criteria we are all working towards so we can pre-empt when countries may move into different categories and help our customers with that challenge."

Meanwhile, hopes are rising for a foreign summer holiday season in August as ministers are "working on" plans to exempt fully vaccinated Brits from quarantine rules.

Matt Hancock confirmed ministers are looking at how to scrap the requirement for people to isolate for 10 days on return from an amber list country.

The Health Secretary said he is "in favour of moving forward in this area" and replacing quarantine with daily testing.

THE TALIBAN ARE BACK!

The U.S. military has said it could slow down its withdrawal from Afghanistan in light of recent victories by the Taliban.

Pentagon spokesman John Kirby said the deadline for a full withdrawal by September 11 was still in place, but the pace may change.

Pentagon officials said last week that the withdrawal is about half-way done.

Afghanistan has seen increasing violence as the U.S. and NATO prepare to pull out their remaining troops. Over the last month, the Taliban have stepped up attacks and gained control of more than 30 districts. The hardline Islamist group has also seized large quantities of military equipment, according to local media, and killed, wounded or captured dozens of troops.

Afghan government spokespeople have denied that the districts have fallen to the Taliban, saying they were evacuated in a "tactical withdrawal".

Sheyla almost died FOUR TIMES in quest for world's biggest busters

SIZE MATTERS: Reality TV star wants to look like Dolly Parton

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

AS a younger woman, Sheyla Hershey would have died for bigger boobs.

And she almost has... FOUR TIMES! But Sheyla, 41, has not given up yet in her quest to look like Dolly Parton.

Despite already spending a whopping £320k on boob jobs, she's set to splash out £108k on another that will transform her 32K-cups into 000-cups.

The reality TV star has dismissed warnings about her 39th boob op and insists having a big rack is the only thing that will make her happy.

Her first surgery was liposuction at 20 years old, after being told she had "a man's body" for years and her 5ft 3in frame bulging to 14st 2lb.

One year later, Sheyla had the first of 38 ops to her chest to transform her B-cups into C-cups after her Dolly Parton-obsessed ex encouraged her to look like the star.

Infections

But she developed a dangerous addiction to plastic surgery that she claims enabled her to set a world record with her MMM-cup boobs.

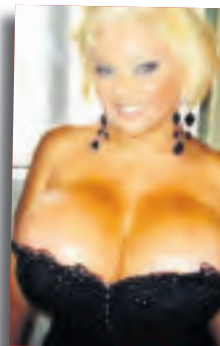

Brazil-born Sheyla, who lives in Brooklyn, New York, said: "I've fantasised about looking like Dolly Parton for a long time."

"I love her body and now I've got much bigger breasts than her."

But Sheyla's vanity

has come at a price. She nearly died four times, from two infections after going under the knife and attempted suicide twice through depression.

Sheyla added: "Some people want big cars, houses and jewellery, I just want the perfect body and to make myself the way I've always dreamed of being."

Squid on menu for launch

BOFFINS have sent SQUID into space, to see what happens. The tentacled creatures were raised at the University of Hawaii and were blasted into space earlier this month on a SpaceX mission to the International Space Station.

Researchers are studying how spaceflight affects the squid in the hope of bolstering human health during long space missions.

The squid have a symbiotic relationship with natural bacteria and when astronauts are in low gravity their body's relationship with microbes changes too, so eggheads should be able to work out how to fix it.

'Swinging' Cara can't nail down sexual identity

CARA Delevingne says she swings all ways!

The model (above) said how she sexually identifies frequently changes, describing it as being like a "pendulum swinging".

The 28-year-old has previously labelled herself pansexual and bisexual.

She dated musician St Vincent and actress Ashley Benson.

Appearing on a Pride episode of podcast Make It Reign with Josh Smith, Delevingne said: "The way I define myself still changes all the time, whether it's pansexual, bisexual, I don't really know."

"It's like a pendulum swinging, but almost now I feel far more comfortable being bisexual than I used to."

"I've kind of felt because I was lacking in my desire for women or love for women that I kind of just went one way and now it changes a lot more. I feel a lot more free."

NATIONAL TREASURE: Sexy Joan in X-rated movies and chatting with Piers

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

AFTER 70 glittering years in showbiz, Dame Joan Collins has earned the tag "national treasure".

So the actress was a perfect guest for Piers Morgan's Life Stories.

And she didn't hold back over her feud with her late Dynasty co-star John Forsythe during a chat with the former GMB bigmouth.

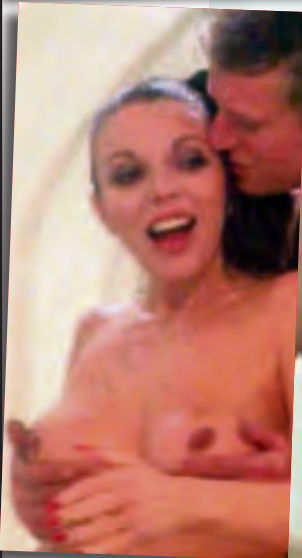

Dame Joan, 88, played Alexis Colby on the show while Forsythe, who died aged 92 in 2010, played her ex-husband Blake Carrington.

She told Piers: "True, I didn't like him because he was a misogynistic prick."

She added: "He also had it in his contract that he always had to have $5,000 an episode more than anybody else in the cast and that in any publicity that went out about the show, he always had to be front and centre."

Unfortunately, Piers did not have time to show viewers stills from Dame Joan's movies The Bitch and The Stud, based on X-rated books penned by her sister Jackie.

M.O.T. ADVISORY: SNAKE IN ENGINE!

A CAR mechanic got a surprise when he discovered a python under the bonnet of a Vauxhall Vivaro that was in for its MOT.

The snake, which belongs to the nine-year-old stepson of the vehicle's owner, had escaped two weeks earlier when its tank was accidentally left open overnight.

The Sunfire Royal Ball Python, measuring more than a metre long, was discovered curled up on top of the engine at CSN Autos in Wymondham, Norfolk.

Sophie Turner, 30, said she thought the garage owner was "winding us up" when he rang her partner Jim Catton, 32, about the car's hidden passenger.

She said her son Ellis got the snake, named Gav after his late uncle, in May.

Her son accidentally left the tank's door open a fortnight ago.

"That was when we had that heatwave," she said.

"He had his bedroom window wide open, the snake obviously slithered out."

Sophie heard a neighbour's son scream that evening and the following morning her neighbour said the boy thought he had seen a snake.

They laughed about it at the time, then her partner revealed the python was missing.

Sophie said Ellis was "over the moon" to have Gav back and they were lucky the snake was still in the car as they had been driving around in it for two weeks.

"We've been out in the car to the dinosaur park, Great Yarmouth, shopping, fishing, everywhere," said Sophie.

"The whole time he was obviously in the bonnet."

COVID Ripper's medical records under scrutiny

A CORONER has requested medical notes from the last six weeks of serial killer Peter Sutcliffe's life.

The Yorkshire Ripper, 74, suffered from increasing breathlessness and needed additional levels of oxygen in the days before his death in hospital from COVID-19 on November 13.

Sutcliffe (above) murdered 13 women and attacked several others, terrifying northern England in the late 1970s until he was caught in 1980.

He was serving a life sentence at Frankland Prison in Durham and had been transferred to the nearby University Hospital of North Durham.

Assistant Senior Coroner for County Durham Crispin Oliver held a hearing ahead of the final, full inquest.

He said: "On the face of it, it is a natural death."

"But I think I shall require the medical records from 1 October to 13 November, when he died."

A BEGGAR has been jailed and banned from sitting – or shitting – on any street in a borough for five years.

Elyse Erskine, 31, of no fixed address, was sentenced to 10 weeks in prison after appearing at Coventry Magistrates' Court.

Erskine was sentenced for breaching an original community order, criminal damage, breach of community protection notice and bail offences.

She was also given a new criminal behaviour order, which will last for five years and bans her from a number of activities.

The conditions on the order include not to urinate or defecate in public and not sitting on the path outside any premise in the borough of Nuneaton and Bedworth, north Warks.

I WASN'T WANKING...A BUG BIT MY WILLY

By SUZIE SHELTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A BUSINESSMAN caught masturbating inside his car as schoolkids walked by claimed he was searching for a "bug" that bit his penis.

Civil engineer James Lewis-Booth, 37, was seen performing a solo sex act on himself while his trousers were down in Upper Craigs, Stirling, on September 7 last year.

His explanation was blasted as "ludicrous" by a judge as he was found guilty of public indecency and fined £1,500.

A horrified witness told Stirling Sheriff Court how he had noticed Lewis-Booth masturbating in his car while checking to see if neighbours had put out their recycling.

Lewis Brannan said: "I had a closer look and saw he had his trousers unbuckled and his penis in his right hand and he was masturbating."

"His right hand was moving up and down with his penis in his hand."

Sick

Mr Brannan added: "I went to get a glass of water because I felt sick and I phoned the police."

The witness kept an eye on Lewis-Booth for 40 minutes until cops arrived.

He told how the perv kept on pleasuring himself even when there was a woman standing outside her vehicle just metres away.

Mr Brannan said: "At one point there was a woman standing in front of his car between her boot and his bonnet getting something out of her car and he continued to masturbate when she was two metres in front of him."

Remarking on Lewis-Booth's excuse for his

COCK SHOCK:
Lewis-Booth

actions, Mr Brannan said: "I don't think it takes 40 minutes to find an insect in your trousers."

Lewis-Booth claimed he had been answering emails and phones on a "busy day" when he was bitten or stung by the insect.

He said: "It was extremely painful. My instinctive reaction was to try and find out what had bitten me, so I decided to unzip my trousers and have a look."

"Unfortunately, I didn't find anything." His solicitor, Harry Couchlin, produced a photo of Lewis-Booth's penis and claimed it showed the aftermath of a blister from the bite.

Prosecutor India Maclean said: "The bug explanation is not one that can be taken seriously."

"It is an explanation so outrageous and unlikely, it can be disregarded."

And Sheriff Wyllie Robertson ruled it was "inherently unlikely" that Lewis-Booth was "searching for some sort of bug".

DON'T HAVE SEX ON THE BEACH, WARNS STUNNA JESS

LOVE Islanders have been warned NOT to have sex onscreen by Ex on the Beach star Jess Impiazzi, who claimed it nearly ruined her Hollywood career.

The former reality star, 31, said the new set of fresh-faced singles should be "careful" about what they do on TV, as it "never goes away".

Jess, who appeared on the MTV reality show in 2015, spoke about the distress she suffered after show bosses aired footage of her drunkenly having sex.

She said: "They [new Love Islanders] are young when they go in, you've got to think long-term, a lot of these shows are a conveyor belt of people."

"There's a couple that will do well and carry on doing well for a few years."

"But you've got to be prepared for when it's not and you don't want to ruin anything for your future."

"Even if you are [doing well], it will still die down at one point and you've got to remember to stay true to yourself."

She added: "You've got to remember that this doesn't go away, papers don't go away, articles online are there forever, repeats are there forever. You've got to make sure you're comfortable with that."

"I still get a bit upset about it. You're 18 and you're going to act very different from when you're 28 and you don't want to ruin something for the rest of your life."

MANCS ONLY DOING IT 51 TIMES A YEAR

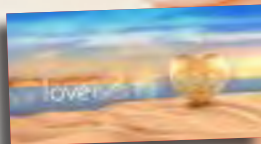

FOLK from Manchester bonked less than people from anywhere else in Britain over the past 12 months, with romps down a whopping 43 per cent on the previous year, a study has found.

The average Brit, aged between 18-49, has sex 90 times a year. But Mancunians, like Liam Gallagher, Shaun Ryder and Michelle Keegan, only managed it 51 times in the past 12 months.

A poll of 2,000 British couples by European lingerie specialists Hunkemöller found Londoners, by contrast, were at it like rabbits, racking up 130 romps in the past year, a rise of 44%.

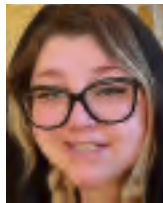

The top five cities which bonked more than any other in Britain in the past 12 months were:

- 1 London 130 romps (up 44%)
 - 2 Southampton 115 romps (up 28%)
 - 3 Newcastle 113 romps (up 26%)
 - 4 Birmingham 109 romps (up 21%)
 - 5 Belfast 107 romps (up 19%)
- Those who saw the times they got lucky plummet were:
- 1 Manchester 51 romps (down 43%)
 - 2 Leeds 62 romps (down 31%)
 - 3 Liverpool 63 romps (down 30%)
 - 4 Glasgow 63 romps (down 30%)
 - 5 Edinburgh 65 romps (down 28%)

Smelly Tinder date's sue bid over sex snub

A WOMAN has claimed a former Tinder match tried to sue her because she wouldn't have sex with him, insisting she was in breach of their 'verbal contract'.

Emily Mackinnon, who is known as @authentically_emi on social media, shared her story in a series of TikTok videos, alleging he also sent her a cease and desist letter after she talked about him on her new podcast, Been There Bestie.

"So we matched on Tinder. He was a law student. We went back to his place. It was implied that we were gonna hook up, but I never explicitly stated that," Emily explained.

Emily (above), who lives in Canada, said she bailed on the hookup after her date, referred to as Chad, took off his undies and whiffed of body odour and faeces.

"I left and a few days later he'd paid someone to serve me with papers to like sue me for breaking a verbal contract," she claimed.

"But it's okay. I fixed it."

Naked Dave's

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

EXPERTS roasted a fitness influencer's "irresponsible" sun advice after he told his 100,000 followers to "ditch sunscreen" in a naked Instagram post.

Dave Driskell, who owns a chain of CrossFit gyms in Byron Bay, near Sydney, Australia, and Bali, shared a photo of himself lying naked in the sun on social media, explaining it was his response to "woke anti-sunners" who tell him he "needs to wear sunscreen".

When the post attracted criticism, he shared a second nude image alongside a lengthy post that concluded: "Now ditch that sun cream and go sun your fkin genitals."

But Dr Shreya Andric, a skin health specialist, rapped: "It's irresponsible to spread misinformation about sun exposure not being able to kill you. "Skin cancers are the most common type of cancer we see in Australia, making up 80 per cent of all newly diagnosed cancers, and UV exposure is directly responsible for this."

In his posts, the US-born fitness coach argued there were bigger health issues to worry about with diet and nutrition that he said contributes to other more common killers.

"When woke anti-sunners who stuff their faces with Oreos and fuel themselves with processed Froot Loops tell me I need to wear sunscreen and be careful of too much sun..." he wrote.

"Look to nature. Sunshine isn't gonna kill you. Refined sugar, seed oils and processed chemicals posing as food will however."

He added the hashtags "only tans", "sun your balls" and "eat food without labels" to the end of the post, which was liked by more than 5,500 people.

In the comments section, some joked "no one likes a burnt sausage", alongside critics who pointed out "the sun can unfortunately kill you".

Naked tosser busted at homeless shelter

A MAN was nicked for furiously masturbating outside a homeless shelter.

Cops were called to Saving Mercy, a former motel converted into a homeless centre, over reports of a man running around naked and masturbating in front of people.

An officer arrived at the shelter to find Felix Hernandez sitting on the kerb with his genitals completely exposed.

The officer asked where his clothes were and, after indicating they were across the street, Hernandez refused to answer further questions.

Hernandez, 36, was arrested and taken to the Marion County Jail in Ocala, Florida.

He was charged with indecent exposure of sexual organs and will appear in court on July 13.

OH dear! Has nobody at Victoria's Secret heard the expression "go woke, go broke"?

The lingerie company is attempting to rebrand its image, replacing its sexy model 'angels' with seven high-profile women.

They include US soccer star Megan Rapinoe and actress Priyanka Chopra Jonas.

The move is being dubbed the biggest rebrand in the retailer's history, overhauling its "hypersexualised" image in favour of partnering with women who are known for their advocacy in gender equality, LGBTQ+ issues and body positivity.

Rapinoe and Chopra Jonas are joined by 17-year-old Chinese-American freestyle skier Eileen Gu, inclusivity advocate and model Paloma Elsesser, transgender model Valentina Sampaio, photographer and founder of #Girlgaze Amanda De Cadenet and south Sudanese model and refugee Adut Akech.

The seven women chosen as figureheads for the brand will be known as the VS Collective and will work with the company on "collaborations, business partnerships and cause-related initiatives".

The rebrand comes nearly two years after Victoria's Secret pulled the plug on its iconic fashion show, after criticisms it objectified women for the male gaze and had a misogynistic corporate culture.

In five years' time, we confidently predict, people will be saying "remember Victoria's Secret?".

So, in tribute to the firm before they caught "woke", here's some gorgeous birds in their panties...

Police dispatched to reports of a disturbance found disrobed Robert Gilliam walking around and holding a pair of jeans.

In his report, one cop wrote: "While speaking with Gilliam, I observed him to have bloodshot eyes, slurred speech, and was talking to himself."

"I asked him if he was under the influence of any drug but he did not answer my question and continued talking to himself."

Gilliam told the cop he had gone outside unclothed to "get some fresh air."

He continued to talk to himself and later admitted he had taken something, but wasn't sure what it was.

The cop added: "He was advised he could not be walking around in public with no clothes on and intoxicated."

Gilliam was arrested and hauled off to the detention centre in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, where he was charged with indecent exposure and public intoxication.

A HORRIFIED householder found a human leg bone hidden behind the wall of a built-in wardrobe at their new home.

The homeowner, who had only moved in weeks before, called cops after making the grisly discovery while doing some DIY work.

Police arrived at Jamaica Estates, a posh part of Queens, New York, and the bone was handed to the city Medical Examiner's office.

After examining it, boffins determined that the bone is a human fibula, according to cops.

It is not known how old the bone is or who it belonged to.

#HOT'N'HORNY

STUNNING Jess Davies wants you to know she is not going to have sex with you, marry you or needs you to send her money for plane tickets...

Because evil criminals are using her pictures to con people out of their hard-earned cash.

The glamour girl, from Aberystwyth in West Wales, has been contacted by many people who say they had been taken in by her bare 28G knockers.

She said: "It's been happening for years, to be honest.

"I get messages from people on Facebook and Instagram to say that they've found people using my pictures.

"In the last few days, I have had six different people message me to say that they have found my pics online.

"People use different platforms such as Instagram, Tinder, Hangouts, Plenty of Fish and Kik. They are trying to get money out of people by using my pictures!"

A NOTORIOUS psychic and one of her cohorts swindled gullible victims out of hundreds of thousands of pounds.

Crystal-gazing Ann Thompson and Sarah Demitro pleaded guilty to scheming to defraud and theft charges in court and agreed to pay back more than $200,000 (£144,000) as part of a plea deal with prosecutors.

In impassioned statements before the sentencing in Manhattan, New York, two victims – including one who claims she was bilked out of more than $740,000 by Thompson – pleaded with the judge to impose a harsh sentence on the women, who they said preyed on them as they struggled psychologically and emotionally.

Curses

"I was the perfect mark," said the unidentified woman, who had travelled from Canada, as she stood about 30 feet away from Thompson in the courtroom.

"I never realised any human being could be so utterly evil," she said.

The woman, 59, said she met Thompson, who went by the name of "Psychic Zoe", in 2013 after paying $5 for a psychic reading in Manhattan while visiting her college-aged child in New York.

That $5 reading sent her life spiralling out of control as she agreed to fork out over hundreds of thousands of dollars to the fraudster, who told her she was "plagued by a number of curses", the woman said.

The woman, who had just gone through a life-crushing divorce, was ultimately driven to homelessness and suicidal ideation after realising she'd turned over her life's savings to the supernatural huckster, she said.

Thompson was her "own personal terrorist," she added, then pleaded with the judge to not let her out on probation.

Another victim, a middle-aged man who spoke via videoconference, told the judge he was bilked out of $72,000 after speaking with Thompson while he was going through a difficult time with his teenage son.

Thompson told him his son was "being tormented by an evil spirit" and he agreed to pay her the sum of money so she could buy gold coins to rid him of the spectre, he said.

Thompson and Demitro dodged a prison sentence and were each given five months' probation.

Trucker's crime was just NUTS!

A TRUCKER was busted for stealing a trailer with 42,000 pounds of pistachio nuts and repackaging the treats for sale.

Alberto Montemayor, 34, is accused of moving a tractor trailer with the pistachios from the Montemayor Trucking lot to another site nearby, where the nuts were taken out of 2,000-pound sacks and put in smaller bags.

Cops had been called after the Touchstone Pistachio Company in Terra Bella, California, found tens of thousands of pounds of pistachios missing during an audit.

A police source said: "This guy was nuts to think he would get away with this."

MACY GRAY: DITCH 'DIVISIVE' U.S. FLAG

YANKS have gone berserk after singer Macy Gray dissed the United States flag.

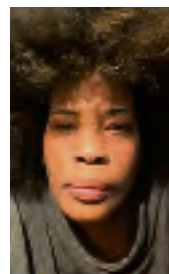

The popular soul and R&B singer said the flag no longer represented "all" Americans.

"The American flag has been hijacked as code for a specific belief. God bless those believers, they can have it," Gray, 53 wrote.

"Like the Confederate, it is tattered, dated, divisive and incorrect. It no longer represents democracy and freedom. It no longer represents ALL of us. It's not fair to be forced to honour it. It's time for a new flag."

Gray (left) suggested a new flag with "off white" bars and stars that were white alongside ones that were black and brown to reflect America's diversity.

One critic tweeted: "WTAF?! Now the flag is too white?! Maybe Macy Gray needs to spend some time with our service members for a little perspective."

SOAKING UP RAYS TOPLESS: It puts Jessica Jay in the mood

THE top ten aphrodisiacs for men and women are revealed in a new survey.

Women's favourite aphrodisiac is sunshine and the mood-enhancing effect of good weather.

Booze is a key aphrodisiac for both sexes and in second place on the female list is chilled prosecco, champagne or white wine.

Getting the bedroom scene right is a turn-on for women, with freshly laundered sheets in third place.

Fourth place is an act of kindness from their partner, a great way to get women in the mood.

Fifth place is the first full day of a holiday, another key moment when sex is definitely on the agenda for lots of women.

The results are from a survey of 2,000 people by IllicitEncounters.com, the UK's leading affairs site.

The men's list is significantly different and relies more on visual stimulation and work-related highs.

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

Top spot goes to the adrenaline rush men get when their team wins at sport, which instantly puts them in the mood for sex.

Alcohol is just as much an aphrodisiac for men as it is for women, but beer is by far the most popular choice on the male list.

Passionate

Sharing a nude picture of a partner is the third most likely way to get a man in the mood for sex.

Fourth place is a day off work and fifth is the thought of 'forbidden' sex, such as having an affair.

The survey found that 87 per cent of women and 86% of men said they believe in the power of aphrodisiacs and the fact that mood enhancers make sex more likely.

Nearly three-quarters of women (72%) and two-thirds of men (63%) said their libido dropped when they were in a bad mood.

Two-thirds of men (67%) and 58% of women try to do something 'special' for their partner each week to make sex more likely.

The results showed that few people found that 'classic' aphrodisiacs such as oysters, chocolate or asparagus made them more passionate.

Only 8% of women and 7% of men had felt sexier after eating oysters with their partner.

Jessica Leoni, sex and relationship expert at IllicitEncounters.com, said: "Forget oysters and chocolate, the most potent aphrodisiac that makes sex more likely for a couple is just feeling good about life."

"For women, this can be something as simple as a long run of nice weather combined with some fresh smelling clean sheets.

"Men feel good when their teams

Lesbian beat girlfriend for sleep-talking about her ex

AN angry lesbian was arrested for twatting her girlfriend in the face after hearing her sleep-talk about an ex.

Alexis Talley, 23, woke her 21-year-old partner and told her that "she was talking in her sleep about an ex," according to an arrest report.

The two started arguing inside their apartment and the feud escalated when Talley (above) punched the victim in the face.

The girlfriend suffered swelling to the right side of her face, police said.

Talley admitted to verbally fighting with her girlfriend, but denied hitting her.

Police in Tampa Bay, Florida, arrested Talley and charged her with domestic battery.

She posted bail and was ordered by a judge to stay away from the victim.

AS SUPERHERO IS DRAGGED INTO LICKING-OUT ROW...

BATMAN & THROBBIN'

ORAL SEX BAN: Batman barred from going down on Catwoman in animated series Harley Quinn

Caped Crusader's co-stars topless & nude

IT'S perhaps the most bizarre row in the history of superheroes...

Does Batman lick out women? It all blew up over the animated Batman spinoff series Harley Quinn, which features gore, gallows humour and other adult elements.

But in a recent interview, co-creators and executive producers Justin Halpern and Patrick Schumacker revealed there's one place no DC Comics superhero will go.

"...in this third season of 'Harley' [when] we had a moment where Batman was going down on Catwoman," Halpern said.

"And DC was like, 'You can't do that. You absolutely cannot do that'. They're like, 'Heroes don't do that'."

Halpern discovered the main reason why the comic book giant won't let Batman perform oral sex on Catwoman.

"So we said, 'Are you saying heroes are just selfish lovers?' They were like, 'No, it's that we sell consumer toys for heroes. It's hard to sell a toy if Batman is also going down on someone'."

The animated series beginning in 2019 follows the misadventures of Harley Quinn and fellow villain Poison Ivy, after Harley realises her boyfriend Joker doesn't love her and breaks up with him.

But while DC Comics may have banned minge-sucking, they can't ban some of the Caped Crusader's co-stars going topless and nude in movies.

Britain's biggest

DOUBTER:
Gordievsky
as a young
KGB agent

OLEG Gordievsky was the most significant British agent of the Cold War.

For 11 years, he spied for MI6. That he managed to deceive his KGB colleagues during all that time was incredible.

But even more astounding was that in summer 1985, after Gordievsky was hastily recalled from London to Moscow by his suspicious bosses, British intelligence officers helped him to escape.

It was the only time that the spooks managed to extract an agent from the USSR, outwitting their Russian adversaries.

And it went some way towards exorcising the ghost of the Cambridge spies, who a generation earlier had travelled in the opposite direction.

Gordievsky settled in the UK and in 2007 was honoured by the Queen with the Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of St Michael and St George (CMG) for "services to the security of the United Kingdom", the same gong given to his fictional Cold War colleague James Bond.

GORDIEVSKY told the story of his improbable survival in the 1995 memoir, Next Stop Execution.

It charted his recruitment by the KGB, where his older brother Vasili served as a deep cover "illegal", and Gordievsky's fast growing disillusionment with the grey totalitarian world of 1960s Moscow.

At an early age he learned German. He began reading western newspapers. Then as a KGB trainee he spent six months in East Berlin.

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

But it was the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia that propelled Gordievsky towards the West and determined "the course of my own life".

System

By then, Gordievsky was a junior spy abroad, working for the KGB's first directorate, and living in Copenhagen. But he resolved to fight the communist system from the inside.

His first step was to call his then wife Yelena from an embassy phone bugged by the Danes, and to declare: "They've done it! I just don't know what to do."

He expected an approach from western intelligence. It didn't materialise.

Journalist Ben Macintyre's book The Spy and the Traitor complements Oleg Gordievsky's first-person account.

It reveals the dramatic role played by MI6 in recruiting and cultivating a serving KGB insider and keeping him alive against the odds.

Gordievsky's British contacts were a colourful bunch. Some were upper-class Cold War adventurers. Others were gifted working-class linguists who had been recruited from Oxbidge.

Author Macintyre had no access to MI6's archives, which remain secret.

But he interviewed all of the former officers involved in the case, who told their stories for the first time.

He spoke extensively to Gordievsky, now 82 and living in the home counties.

Gordievsky's double life started after a junior MI6 officer saw his name while leafing through a personnel file.

It was 1970 and a Czechoslovak spy, Standa Kaplan, had defected to Canada.

Asked if he knew anybody who might be of interest to western intelligence, Kaplan threw out a few names.

They included that of Gordievsky, who was a friend from the KGB academy, aware of the failings of communism and not so different from him, he said.

In 1972 Gordievsky went back to Denmark for a second tour. MI6 was waiting.

One morning its head of station approached him while he was playing badminton.

Gordievsky's manner during the encounters was strangely calm, leading the Brits to wonder if they were the victims of a classic KGB "dangle".

Actually, Gordievsky had already decided to switch sides.

Conviction

He would go on to meet British handlers once a month. He didn't want money and said he was spying out of ideological conviction.

Cassettes of the conversations were sent back to London in a diplomatic bag.

Gordievsky, MI6 was to discover, was a star asset.

He had a precise memory and thorough knowledge of both the current and former KGB operations.

At lunchtimes he would slip out of the embassy and hand over microfilm strips to his case officer for copying. These were Moscow's secret instructions.

After three years, Gordievsky had to go back to Moscow. It was at that tricky point that MI6 came up with a plan to smuggle him out of the USSR, should the need arise.

Its author was "Veronica Price", a top intelligence officer, working out of Century House, MI6's ugly former HQ. The plan was called PIMLICO.

SECRET WORLD OF SPIES

London decided not to make contact with Gordievsky once he was home as it would be too risky, but to have a procedure in place if he raised the alarm.

The plan was simple. At 7.30pm on Tuesdays British officers would watch a bread shop next to Kutuzovsky Prospekt, a diplomatic complex.

In an emergency, Gordievsky would turn up wearing a grey cap and holding a plastic Safeway bag. The MI6 officer would walk past him munching a Mars bar or a KitKat.

This signal would trigger a plan to smuggle Gordievsky into Finland in the boot of a diplomatic car.

Contentious

After a long period of no contact MI6 was delighted when Moscow sent Gordievsky to London.

In the meantime, he had learned English and closely studied the KGB's British files.

concerns former Labour leader Michael Foot, who the KGB had cultivated for two decades.

According to Gordievsky the KGB made regular payments to Foot in the 1950s and 60s. The cash went to fund the magazine Tribune.

Macintyre wrote that Foot wasn't a Soviet spy. However, he views him as "stunningly naive".

In the summer of 1982 Gordievsky moved to London and began regular meetings at a Bayswater safe house with his MI6 handlers.

For an extraordinary period he was briefing British and Soviet spies, and Margaret Thatcher, who referred to him as "Mr Collins".

Threatened

MI6 boosted his career by feeding him real, low-grade intelligence and by removing rival spies who threatened to expose him.

There were close shaves, including an approach to the Soviet embassy by Michael Bettaney, a renegade MI5 loner.

Betrayal eventually came from a venal CIA officer, Aldrich Ames, who tipped off Moscow, and Ames is the traitor of the book's title.

Gordievsky's spying for the west included details of the KGB's attempts to influence western elections through "active measures".

In 1985 the KGB circulated a "personality questionnaire" in secret.

It set out all the characteristics it was looking for in a potential agent, which included narcissism, vanity, greed and marital infidelity.

Soon afterwards, the Soviet government got a prominent American, Donald Trump, to visit Moscow.

Over 30 years on, Gordievsky's successful escape still seems incredible.

Drugged

Summoned back to Moscow, he survived a KGB interrogation, despite being drugged.

He raised the alarm with his supermarket bag and gave his minders the slip.

Two cars driven by MI6 officers and their wives got him across the border.

It was a hair-raising journey, featuring a KGB pursuit, a smelly nappy and a bag of crisps.

Gordievsky was forced to leave his second wife Leila and their two children behind in the USSR.

They were reunited six years later but the marriage didn't survive.

There is no doubt that he played a profound role in undermining the Soviet system, not least by explaining all the paranoia and fantastical thinking inside the KGB to western policymakers and agencies.

Gordievsky remains under sentence of death.

He knows all too well the KGB's view of treachery, and that his enemies play a long game.

NAKED BURGLAR STAMPED ON OUR BUDGIES

BIRD BRAINER:
Kiyan was caught on security
camera

A NAKED homeless man broke into a millionaire's mansion and killed the family's pet budgies by STAMPING on them.

Paul Kiyan, 34, got into the home of Mat Sabz by using a remote control taken from an unlocked car in the driveway.

Kiyan was caught on home surveillance cameras as he entered the house and made his way up the stairs.

Sabz confronted the intruder after his wife received an alert on her phone that someone was inside their home in Bel Air, Los Angeles.

"I raised my voice and pointed at him saying 'Hey, what are you doing?'," Sabz said.

"He didn't leave. He looked at me and said 'This is my house, what are you doing here?'"

"And before I could say a word, he said 'I'm going to call the police'."

"And I realised this is not a person you want to engage with any further."

After waltzing around in a pair of Sabz's shorts, Kiyan spotted two pet budgies in a cage.

"First he smiled at them like a serial killer," Sabz said.

"He dropped them and stomped on them. You can hear the bird screaming and he did the same thing with the second bird."

"And that changed everything when we saw that he killed these two defenceless animals."

Sabz jumped off the balcony and onto his car as he called cops.

Beverly Hills Police responded and arrested the intruder.

Kiyan is facing burglary and animal cruelty charges.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Kids? Just get a dog instead!

IF you're planning on having kids, can I suggest you hold off dipping your wick for a bit and watch a few episodes of Breeders instead?

Because the Martin Freeman-fronted comedy is perhaps the best argument ever in favour of a rigid devotion to contraception.

Freeman – ex Hobbit, ex Tim from The Office – plays a greying, middle-aged dad who is pretty much tired of everything the world has to offer him.

His fit blonde wife has gone from being a saucy, mildly drugged-up, 20-something to a more neurotic 40-something workaholic who no longer finds her fella a laugh.

The reason she can't find him much fun any more is because he just isn't, as if a lightbulb fused at some point and no one got around to fixing it.

But the reason the lightbulb went out, even if it's never really explained, seems to have been the introduction into his life of two particular characters.

I say "characters". Let's just call a spade a spade and admit that they're his on-screen children.

A wise-beyond-her-years younger daughter who's suddenly taken an interest in God, to which Freeman's atheist dad character is vehemently opposed.

Wuss

And a superbly weird older adolescent son who has no friends, suffers from anxiety and is generally seen at school as a bit of a wuss.

If you wanted to imagine a midlife crisis for dad, this was it.

His marriage drifting dangerously close to the doldrums, worklife rubbish, his only real friend himself, his ageing parents slowly going round the twist.

His mother-in-law is away with the love fairies, having met a new partner late in life and doing all those embarrassing things old people in love do.

It's all awful. But let's return to the cherry on the cake. The sodding kids.

In the last episode I watched, one of them did a runner from home, essentially because their dad had shouted at them.

So what? you ask. We've all had a barney with our old man and stormed out.

But the reason for this particular falling out was Freeman discovering his 13-year-old son was attempting to cook up a plan to buy some weed with a schoolmate.

Errant son does stupid thing. Dad

MIDLIFE CRISIS: Freeman as fed-up dad in Breeders goes mad. Son gets bollocked. Mum calms the seas. Everyone shares pizza.

It's how life has operated across the planet since the day they invented pizza deliveries.

But it's not any more, is it?

Oh no. Dad interfering in underage son's illicit entry into the world of drugs is, to coin a phrase, a breach of the lad's "rights".

It's also an "invasion" of the little twat's "privacy".

And then he gives his dad a nosebleed, courtesy of a pretty decent right hook.

At that point, my inner lightbulb suddenly came furiously alight.

Kids? KIDS?

Don't bother, mate.

They cost a fortune, give you nothing but bother and, from the age of about six, devote the rest of their lives telling you (as a dad, anyway) how much of a complete and utter c you are.

If you want something cheap, cheerful, affectionate, grateful, loving, eager to learn, doesn't answer back, and always glad to see you, don't even "consider" children.

Get a dog instead.

Woolly mammoth tusk found by digging gas crew

CREWS rerouting a gas pipeline uncovered the 12,000-year-old tusk of a woolly mammoth beneath the road.

"When doing this type of work, our crews are very careful to keep an eye out for materials that could be fragile or historic," a spokeswoman for gas company NW Natural said.

"We stopped work immediately."

The excavation work was being done in Corvallis, Oregon, as part of a local council project on water lines and storm drains.

Officials brought in Oregon State University anthropology professor Loren Davis, who studies archaeological sites from western North America that date from the Pleistocene era, more than 12,000 years ago.

He said the mammoth, which co-existed with early humans, probably was buried in the great Missoula floods of the Pleistocene era.

The tusk is six feet below ground level and more of the animal's body may be hidden.

Man pulled gun over bagel with no cream cheese

A MAN flew into a rage after his Starbucks barista didn't give him the cream cheese he ordered with a bagel and pulled a gun on the woman, who is the daughter of the local police chief.

Omar Wright, 38, brandished the gun at the 23-year-old worker at a Miami Gardens, Florida, drive-through after he got a bagel with no toppings.

Wright left without firing the gun after the barista gave him some cream cheese.

"He was brandishing a weapon while looking right at her," Miami Gardens Police Chief Delma Noel-Pratt said.

"So she felt fear, fear for her life. He came up to the drive-through window with a gun in his hand."

Wright was charged with aggravated assault with a firearm and armed robbery, but the robbery charge was dropped.

MISS LET US BUNK OFF IN RETURN FOR SEX

Lust-crazed teacher is sued by pupils

SCANDAL SCHOOL: Columbia High and (right) Nicole Dufault

RiRi-eally great boobs!

RIHANNA set pulses racing as she put on a very busty display in a lavender bra and thong from her lingerie brand Savage X Fenty.

While showing off her sensational physique, the 33-year-old Umbrella singer rocked bold red lipstick, tiny braids and a chunky silver choker.

Earlier this week, the star's boyfriend, who goes by the preposterous moniker ASAP Rocky, said it's "amazing" to have his girlfriend by his side because it's so "important" to have people around who want the best for him.

One RiRi fan said: "He sounds like an utter knob."

"That said he very likely gets to stick his where I'd like to stick mine...between those fantastic boobs!"

A TEACHER who blamed brain surgery for sexual abuse of students is facing claims from three new accusers that she let them bunk off lessons in return for SEX!

Nicole Dufault, who pleaded guilty to criminal charges in 2020, and the education authority who employed her were hit with a trio of fresh lawsuits.

One was from a former student claiming he was sexually abused more than 200 times.

The suits outline the abuse that sparked the criminal probe into Dufault and led to her arrest in 2014 on 40 counts of aggravated sexual assault and endangering the welfare of a child.

At the time, a video depicting Dufault sucking off a student to spunky completion spread on social media.

Blatant

Attorneys for the accusers blame the school district for not doing enough to prevent it from happening.

"She was just out of control with her behaviour," said John Baldante, the lawyer representing victims in the new suits.

Dufault's actions were so blatant, it's difficult to comprehend how administrators did not know about them, he said.

The divorced mum-of-two and former language arts teacher at Columbia High School in Maplewood, New Jersey, allegedly told one victim she had been sexually abusing her students over her nine years working for the school, the suits allege.

That former student said Dufault's reign of abuse started in the summer of 2013 when he was 14 and attending a programme for kids with learning disabilities, the suit claims.

He claims Dufault's abuse escalated from molestation to full sex.

The teacher then raped the student and abused him on more than 200 occasions, according to the suit.

Dufault pleaded guilty to criminal sexual contact last January.

Each victim is seeking $50million in damages.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Sam,

I'm having a bit of a mid-life crisis – or so my wife keeps telling me. I've just bought a Harley Davidson and a Maserati, and she thinks it's so I can pull the chicks.

I told her it was just that at our time of life – with no mortgage, no kids at home and a couple of financially sound investments maturing – we should live the dream.

But while I was driving the other day I had my sunglasses on and a bird suddenly poked her head through the car window.

Then she snogged the face off me and said she'd like to suck my cock! I couldn't believe it so, of course, I let her.

A couple of days later, another chick was giving me the eye as I waited at traffic lights and then I found a phone number under my wiper blade.

What's happening?

HT, Sussex

Sam says...

SOUNDS like life is just beginning for you. Enjoy it!

Dear Sam,

I GET these tremendous erections and this has been going on for quite some time. So what's the problem, I hear you ask?

But now, to my horror, in the last week they have been starting when I wake up and lasting all day – only to crash to earth when my bird comes round ready for a good shafting.

So, the long and the short of it is my cock is ready for action all the time, except when I need it most.

It's really getting me down. Have you ever come across this condition and do you have any advice?

JS, south Wales

Sam says...

GET your bird to stay overnight to make the most of your morning glory.

Secretary gave me oral and full sex to earn hubby a job

Dear Sam,

MY secretary at work recently said she'd suck me off if I gave her husband a job.

Of course, I agreed and she undid her blouse, knelt down in front of my chair and started stroking my cock.

I couldn't believe my luck, as I've been lusting after her for ages and we'd been flirting with each other.

She's 38, with dark hair and a lovely body.

Mouth

It was a massive turn-on watching her take my knob in her mouth, and even better when she brought me off between her boobs.

I sorted out a job for her fella but she wanted to carry on with our sex thing, and asked me to bend her over my desk and pump her hard and fast.

Since then I've been shagging her almost every night, as her husband is on the night shift.

The only problem is that last week she told me that she now wants to leave her husband and move in with me.

But I just want to fk her. Help!

FR, Essex

Sam says...

TELL her you just want sex, not a relationship.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

My mega boobs bring hunks under my spell

Dear Sam,

MY enormous 36DD breasts have opened lots of doors for me.

As an 18-year-old university student, I've found even the most hardened geek crumbles at the sight of them struggling to force their way out of the tight tops I wear.

They start drooling the moment I enter the college bar – and I make it my business to pull as many as I can.

Moist

Recently I have been going to the gym on campus and I've built up quite a following among the rugby-playing hunks who hang out there.

One day I went with my pals and all the guys lifting weights were ogling me. I noticed one in particular had got a tremendous hard-on, which was clearly visible through his shorts.

It was all I could do to stop myself going over and grabbing his manhood right there and then.

The fella was one of the rugby crowd, and although his ears had taken a bit of a hammering through being in so many scrums, he was well sexy with really big muscles.

When my pals had left, it was just me and the tall 15-stone hunk left in the gym.

I was moist, steamy and well up for a shag, so I went up to him with my boobs bursting out of my top and invited him to the showers.

We locked the door behind us and he wasted no time pulling my top down.

My boobs sprang out and he played with them until my nipples were erect and then started sucking on them.

Slipping off his shorts and jock-strap, I wrapped his solid cock in the ample folds of my boobs.

I gave him a slow, sensuous tit-wank until I could sense the pressure building up inside his rock-hard cock.

By this time my pussy was dripping wet with love juices and I whispered that I wanted him to fk me senseless.

He turned me round and spread my legs roughly as I leaned over a bench and then entered me like a steam train.

Well, I'd heard that rugby players are renowned for their stamina and this fella proved the point in no uncertain terms.

He pounded away for what seemed like an age and I literally screamed the place down as I enjoyed orgasm after orgasm until he finally let out a grunt and shot a load of his man-milk deep inside me.

We've had several more amazing sessions since and I'm loving it.

I've had so much fun thanks to my boobs, I'm wondering if I should have them made even bigger.

What do you think?

AC, Lanes

Sam says...

WHY waste the money? Sounds like you're having a great time with the ones you've got.

Dear Sam,

MY missus is very fit and great in bed, but I wouldn't be a proper bloke if I didn't have a healthy interest in other women.

Usually I keep it in check, but when we went round to her mate's house for a drink a couple of weeks ago I let my basic urges overcome me.

I went for a pee and, while in the bog, the pal came in – as I hadn't bothered to lock the door.

She gasped at the sight of my dick and made a lunge for it.

It was rock-hard as soon as you could say "stalk on".

She pulled me off quickly and we both returned to the lounge as if nothing had happened.

Well, a nod's as good as a wink to a blind horse, so I went round there the next night and gave her a right seeling-to.

I started out by leading her back to the bog and getting her to pull me off again.

Then she sucked me to hardness and I bent her over the cistern and slid it up her doggy-style.

Finally, I shot my sticky mess over her boobs and she greedily licked it up.

But now I feel a little guilty and I wonder if I should own up to my girlfriend.

BF, north Yorks

Sam says...

SAY now!

Busty blonde gave us great ride in van

Dear Sam,

I WORK as a joiner for a construction company in London and recently I was instructed to take an apprentice on various jobs with me.

I can't say I was too thrilled about the idea, but he's shown himself to be a willing lad and on a job last week I asked him to get a drill from the van.

I waited for what seemed like ages and, when he didn't reappear, I went in search of him.

But when I got to the van, I heard grunts and groans coming from inside.

I flung open the door to find him naked, drilling a blonde with big tits.

It seemed she was a divorcee who lived in some flats nearby and had clocked us as we went about our work and had taken a fancy to my apprentice.

Sucked

I was outraged at first and was ready to give them both a mouthful, but then the busty blonde beckoned me inside the van.

She took out my cock and sucked me off while being done from behind by my teenage apprentice.

Then we swapped over and I gave her a good shafting while she gave my workmate a blowjob.

Suddenly, the doors opened and there stood the foreman with a face like thunder.

Now we are facing a disciplinary hearing. What do you think are our chances of getting away with it?

WK, London

Sam says...

SLIM. You really should have done the obvious and asked the foreman to join in.

#MY SEX FANTASY

'They fight to get a tongue between my spread legs!'

...WITH VERONICA
VANOZA
34D-24-34,
FROM HOVE,
EAST SUSSEX

MY wildest sexual fantasy is to have a threesome with two blokes as it's in effect doubling the pleasure.

I imagine that we are all sipping Prosecco in a hot tub and it starts off with me taking turns making out with both men.

All the attention is on me. They work their way down my body slowly, kissing, caressing and licking me all over.

Suck

Then they fight to get their tongue between my spread legs.

When I'm all worked up I act cock starved and I eagerly suck both of their hard dicks.

I beg them to pound me. I'm on all fours and one takes me from behind while I continue to give the other a juicy blowjob.

They boss me about and order me to swap positions so that the other gets to fk me.

In my fantasy ménage a trois we all orgasm at the same time. I swallow the warm jizz just as my waves of pleasure rip through my body.

I would definitely do this in real life... I just need the right fellas at the right time!

#HOT'N'HORNY

BUSTY glamour girls Angel Wicky and Katerina Hartlova are the BREAST of friends.

The couple teased the camera as they groped their norks and puckered up to each other in a lusty lesbian shoot.

And 32DD lovely Angel, from Reading in Berks, gave a hint as to what the duo might have gotten up to when the camera stopped rolling...

She said: "Having sex with a girl is so gentle, it's about touches, kissing and lots of fondling."

"We know what we like and I guess we are just more open to each other."

"In the bedroom I like to dominate, play with her, tease her and satisfy her."

Squashing her 36FF pair against Angel is Katerina, from Peterborough, who revealed: "I love lots of foreplay."

"I get really turned on by having my boobs played with."

"I can get really close to orgasm by just having my nips licked and stroked."

IT'S finally time to say goodbye to the creepy Crawleys of Downton Abbey and hello to the horny hotties of buxom Bottomley Manor!

For all you red-blooded fellas who love your porn but are bored to tears by dull Downton Abbey this is your lucky day.

Released last week, the UK's most highly anticipated adult movie is available exclusively through the Sport's adult partner Private Shops and, for a limited time they're offering readers another £5 OFF the already low, low price.

Down On Abby is a big budget, full length adult masterpiece starring porn legend Ben Dover and a cast of the hottest adult stars around. It will transport you to Bottomley Manor, home to the Lord Grabhem (played by Ben Dover), his wife (and 2014 AVN nominee) Jasmine Jae, and their two young promiscuous step-daughters, Abby and Fanny.

The Grabhems have invited the Stiffies to dinner and their staff, led by butler Small and footman Master Bates, hurriedly prepare to receive their honoured guests.

But during preparations some members of staff have their own ideas of how to make the night go with a bang! As dinner approaches it seems everyone's got more than fancy nosh on their minds. Mind you, there is plenty of noshing as well as lots of other filth that will even cause a crease in Carson's keks.

We see plenty of R18 DVDs at the Sport but this one is really something special and one you MUST not miss!

This future classic stars Ava Dalush as Missy, Cathy Heaven as Lucy, Emma Leigh as Betty, Jasmine Jae as Lady Wanda Grabhem, Jasmine James as Fanny Grabhem, Jess West as Lady Stiffie, Lexi Lowe as Abby Grabhem, Ben Dover as Lord Will Grabhem, Big Bad Dave as Smithers and Clarke Kent as Master Bates.

DEBRA TURPIN

DELICIOUS Debra Turpin, from Liverpool, has landed a spot in this week's Show Me The Honey thanks to a letter sent in by her biggest fan Marc Gallagher.

The 33-year-old mature student, from The Wirral, said Debra is his ideal woman.

He said: "Can you print a photo of Debra for me soon? She's a Scouser, just over the Mersey from where I live, but I haven't been lucky enough to catch a glimpse of her, or her 36C knockers, in the flesh yet, sadly!"

SANDRA SHINE

SCAFFOLDER Gary Headley, from Barrow-in-Furness, requested this boobs-out snap of Sandra Shine from Carlisle.

Gary, 52, told us he always has a copy of Midweek Sport in his work van to wile away his lunch hour ogling his favourite babes.

Gary said: "In my work I often get stuck in my van for hours at a time."

"I always keep my fingers crossed that I will see Sandra and her superb 34Ds in the paper – but it's been bloody ages since you printed a photo of her!"

VICKI THOMAS

ENGLISH tutor Richard Thornton holds a candle for Vicki Thomas and admits that, like his favourite 17th century poems, his love will never be returned by the Weston-super-mare babe.

Bookworm Richard, 58, said it's Vicki's eye popping 36DD bra-busters that do it for him.

Richard, from the Isle of Wight, said: "Vicki is drop-dead gorgeous, the kind of girl I've been waiting for all my life."

"But a guy like me wouldn't stand a chance with someone as fit as her, so I guess I'll have to make do with a glamour shot of her. Make it a good one!"

STUNNING Mica Martinez isn't a fan of dressing up in the bedroom because she prefers taking all her clothes OFF!

The 32D scorcher said she feels sexiest when she is stark NAKED and loves to show off her jaw-dropping figure.

And Mica isn't shy about where she strips off either, as she made the cheeky confession that the thought of being caught mid-shag really turns her on.

Mica, from Shoreditch in east London, said: "I'd much rather strip off, every time. I think there's nothing more beautiful than just being naked."

"Dressing up can sometimes take away from someone's beauty."

"Why pretend to be something you're not?!"

"I'm really happy with my body and I don't want to hide it away."

"For me, the fear of being caught having sex somewhere is a real turn-on, getting hot and frisky outdoors is a lot more dangerous and a lot more fun. I find the thrill of it SO exciting!"

UEFA CHIEF: Aleks Ceferin

Wembley will host big Euro matches

UEFA have poured cold water on talk of Wembley losing the semis and final of the Euros.

Rumours circulated last week that the showpiece games could go to Budapest because of the UK's quarantine rules for travellers.

UEFA didn't want their officials to have to spend 10 days locked away once they arrived in the country.

On top of that, the Italian prime minister complained that the UK's Covid rates were too high to host the match.

But UEFA have bit back at those suggestions.

A spokesman said: "Uefa, the English FA and the English authorities are working closely together successfully to stage the semi-finals and final of Euro 2020 in Wembley and there are no plans to change the venue for those games."

There are concerns that travelling fans will not be allowed to travel.

That's because we won't know who is in the final within the 10-day quarantine time.

Prime Minister Boris Johnson hinted that a compromise could be reached for the semis and final.

Blues cool on Benitez

EVERTON have gone off the idea of making Rafa Benitez their next manager.

The former Liverpool gaffer was reportedly top of the list to replace Carlo Ancelotti.

But there was a big backlash among the Toffees faithful with protests and obscene banners at the Goodison Park and the training ground.

That's enough to put the board off and they are instead turning to Lucien Favre.

The former Borussia Dortmund chief has also been talking to Crystal Palace.

But the 63-year-old would be seen as a safe pair of hands for Everton who are running out of options and time to get a new boss through the door.

WALES BRIMMING WITH CONFIDENCE AS THEY

BRING ON THE DANES

Dragons ready for the fight of their lives in Euros last 16

WALES defender Ben Davies says he's ready to take on Denmark at his favourite stadium.

The Dragons' left-back can't wait to get back to Amsterdam where he had the greatest night of his life as a club player.

That was when Tottenham came back from 3-0 down to beat Ajax in the Champions League semi-final — with the crucial goal coming six minutes into injury time.

It could take something amazing like that again for Wales to get past a resurgent Denmark side on Saturday.

The Scandinavians are riding on a wave of emotion after the drama that hit Christian Eriksen in the first match of the Euros. His collapse on the field stunned the world. Thankfully he's recovering and has been supporting his team-mates.

The Danes were inspired to batter Russia 4-1 and make the last 16 where Wales are waiting.

The Dragons are another team that are greater than the sum of their parts and gave Italy a good game in going down 1-0 in Rome.

Davies is excited about playing in Amsterdam again and the now Swansea stopper is hoping for another dramatic night.

He said: "It was a pretty crazy night, that one."

"If we can do something similar again I will definitely take it. I would prefer it go a lot more smoothly for us than that game though. It looks like we have a decent chance next round."

Wales famously made the semis of the 2016 Euros and Davies is happy that this Dragons squad has lived up to expectations.

He added: "After the last tournament there was maybe a bit more pressure on us, pressure we had put on ourselves to try and repeat what we did."

Fun

"Getting out of the group, I don't think too many people gave us a chance before. It is an incredible achievement for us. Now we go again and the fun starts."

"I don't think it was our best performance against Italy by any stretch, but that is football. Sometimes you have to grind results out. We played well against Turkey but in the other two games we know there is a lot more to come from us."

"That will be the case going forward. Over the years you say a team is a good team who picks up results when you are not playing so well."

"If there is room for improvement then there is a lot more to come for us."

Gareth Bale thinks the battling qualities Wales showed in their narrow defeat against Italy bodes well for the Denmark clash.

Even a harsh red card for Ethan Ampadu didn't cause the wheels to come off.

Bale said: "We knew it was going to be a very difficult game from the start."

"There was a lot of defending, a lot of running and lot of tired bodies out there. I'm proud of the boys.

"We wanted to try and get a result, but I guess it made no difference because we finished second anyway.

"The Ampadu red card was unfortunate but we had to dig deep. We had to make sure we didn't concede as many as possible, but the five-goal swing was there.

Move

"We'll get a little bit of a break now, patch everyone up, and get going again."

Danny Ward had another good game in goal and will face his Leicester team-mate Kasper Schmeichel on Saturday.

The Wales No1 is fed up of being Foxes No2 and will speak to club boss Brendan Rodgers after the Euros about a move. Since leaving Liverpool for £12.5m in 2018 he has yet to play a single Premier League match. His form in the tournament shows he is well capable of playing at that level.

Ward said: "At the minute I am away with Wales and concentrating on the job we have got here.

"When I come back what will be, will be. I am sure there will be conversations with the relevant people.

"But at the minute my job is to try and keep the ball out of the back of the net and help Wales get through to the next round.

"I am enjoying myself. It is a good feeling, it is something I have waited a long time for. It is nice to go out and show people what I can do on the pitch."

READY TO GO:
Jos Buttler

Jos: I was right to put my feet up

CRICKET By ANDY MILLOM

JOS Buttler says he's done the right thing in missing Test matches to get ready for England's white-ball summer.

The wicketkeeper-batsman is in the squad for the T20 series against Sri Lanka that kicks off in Cardiff today.

He sat out the Tests against New Zealand and played in the Blast for Lancashire instead. Buttler insists that was the right thing to do.

He said: "I don't think there's any perfect answers. In England we're playing a lot of cricket, more than most, so it's important for everyone to be looked after really well, and I think the ECB do a good job of that.

"We understand it's a short career and you want to be available and play as much as you can, but in the current climate, with, I do think we have to look after our people.

"Simple things like playing in England, it used to be very easy to bring your family in, and get out and go home, and do those normal things.

"But the stresses and strains of the environments at the moment are different to what it used to be.

"I know there's been some criticism from outside, but I think it's a day and age where we've got to look after people and applaud the fact that the guys are trying to look after people.

"Is it perfect? No, of

ODI SKIPPER: Eoin Morgan

course it's not, but I'd rather we look after our guys."

Buttler is looking for good results to get confidence up in the England camp.

He added: "That was something that helped us in the 50-over World Cup — going in confident, having played good cricket.

"So we need to focus hard on these next few T20s to make sure we put ourselves in as good a position as we can be when we get to the World T20."

CHRIS Woakes is desperate to get back in England action after last winter proved to be a "waste".

The Warwickshire all-rounder has not played an international since September after going to South Africa, Sri Lanka and India without getting picked even once.

Woakes said: "It is great for me to be back amongst the squad.

"I don't take any squad selection for granted, I am certainly not just here to make up the numbers — if I get a go I will be trying to stake a claim.

"I also realise there are a few injuries knocking around but that doesn't take anything away from me being part of this England team and putting my hand up to be part of this World Cup — with two World Cups around the corner."

Judge blasts 'ludicrous' explanation

£150m TO GET KANE

Tottenham play hardball with Man City

TOTTENHAM will not take a penny less than £150m for Harry Kane.

Manchester City are so desperate to get their hands on the Spurs hitman that they have banged in a £100m bid.

But Pep Guardiola knows that's only an opening offer and won't get the deal done. Tottenham chairman

By JOHN ANTHONY

Daniel Levy fears a huge fans backlash if he lets the club's star player walk out to another Premier League side.

On top of the farcical hunt for a new manager, that could see fans revolt when they are allowed back into the stadium.

And, to make matters

even worse, Tottenham's first game of the season is at home to Man City.

Imagine the atmosphere at the new White Hart Lane if Kane is pulling on a sky blue shirt for the first time in front of his former fans.

For that reason, Spurs are demanding top dollar to let Kane go — and would like the saga to rumble on past that difficult opening match on August 15 in front of the Sky cameras.

Kane is determined to go but Tottenham think the fans would understand if they got an incredible £150m for the injury-prone 28-year-old.

It seems unlikely that City will pay that much and the England skipper looks more likely to spend another season in London.
